Delsey is a French luggage manufacturer. It had its origin in the Delahaye company which, in 1911, specialised in the manufacture of car horns, typewriters and record players. Mr. Delahaye and the Sorbrienne Brothers joined forces in 1946 to set up Delsey. Their individual and joint experience led to them setting up a department producing moulded plastic "travel items" in 1965. This resulted in the introduction of the first Delsey hard-side suitcase. Delsey is, as of 2005, the world's second largest suitcase manufacturer. According to the traveling society, 3 million+ pieces are sold every year.
